

Christmas treat for the troops

THE fabulous Castleford trio Carlton Park — pictured here — will be missing off the local Night Scene for a few weeks because they are entertaining the troops in Germany.

And also on the 11-day tour schedule is a concert to help celebrate the opening up of the Berlin Wall.

"We may bring back some memorabilia of the controversial Berlin Wall," said Michael Cartwright, 25, of Glass Houghton, one of the lead singers.

He tells me that after the visit to Berlin they are hoping for bookings in Dubai, Saudi Arabia.

The trio has, however, a mammoth problem. They are having to find a replacement for the gorgeous talented other lead singer — Julie Cohen, 27, from Sberburn-in-Elmet, who is leaving the group after Christmas.

"She will take some replacing," said Paul Williamson, guitar and vocals.

It looks as if 1990 will be the biggest and best year of their careers.

They are so popular that they are fully booked up to the New Year. But although they are forever keen to bring their show a little more up-to-date they are still performing the delightful old classics from Queen, Whitney Houston, Heart, Hollies, Dire Straits etc.

So if there are any aspiring female vocalists who would like an audition, Mike Cartwright can be contacted on 0977-550212.
