

Hospital top of the pops

CASTLEFORD pop group Carlton Park has sung its way into the hearts of children at Europe's largest general hospital.

For the trio is hoping to have made about £1,000 for the cystic fibrosis unit at St James's in Leeds from raffles held during its performances at pubs and clubs in the area.

And next Thursday at 7pm at the Langtree Park public house in Oxford Street, Castleford, the group aims to boost the total further with a fun-packed night when scantily-clad belles will be auctioned.

Lead singer Michael Cartwright, 24, of The Crescent, Castleford, said the money was most likely to be spent on oxygen equipment for the unit, which cares for young sufferers of the lung-congesting disease.
